

VI Mon. August hath xxxi days.

' For us thro' 12 bright signs Apollo guides
' The year, and earth in sev'ral climes divides.
' Five girdles bind the skies, the torrid zone
' Glows with the passing and repassing sun.
' Far on the right and left, th' extreams of heav'n,
' To frosts and snows and bitter blasts are giv'n.
' Betwixt the midst and these, ^{hath} the God assign'd
' Two habitable seats for humane kind.
